Hannah specializes in Media & Entertainment law in the film and televisual area.

Example of advice: Hannah has traditionally worked in the independent film world with producers and financiers as clients. She advises on production issues as well as financing structures and sources. Hannah has considerable experience with co-productions as well as all forms of distribution arrangements independent as well as studio based. Hannah is experienced negotiating in Hollywood with agents and studios and can advise on rights acquisitions, cast contracts, production insurance issues and music clearances.

Hannah's clients are independent producers, distribution and sales companies, rights acquisition companies and film financiers.

Before joining NML Hannah was General Counsel at Capitol Films where she arranged financing and steered the legal work for over 100 feature film productions including the Oscar winning Gosford Park. Hannah lived and worked for five years in Los Angeles and is qualified at California Bar. Prior to joining Capitol Films Hannah had her own legal practise where in addition to film finance and production legal work she also specialised in the acquisition and sale of film libraries and the due diligence consequent thereon. Hannah attends the major film markets each year to provide legal support to her clients there.

Hannah teaches at the Media Business School in Ronda, Spain.
